Dear Prime Minister:

A country as wealthy as Canada can afford to take bold action on global warming. We must commit to dramatic, legally binding reductions in emissions at the climate talks in Copenhagen and push other developed nations to do the same.

At home, we need to back up our commitments with effective policies that are fair for the whole country.

It's climate crunch time, Prime Minister, and we need you to lead. Make us proud to be Canadian!

Sincerely,

Dear Premier Campbell:

Oil and climate leadership don't mix!

I'm glad the carbon tax is here to stay – it's an important step in the right direction.

However, this bold move is undermined by your support for offshore oil, subsidies for oil and gas development, oil tankers along our shore, and a pipeline to bring dirty tar sands oil to our coast.

I urge you to rethink your energy plan -- it needs to focus on reducing oil use, not getting more of it out of the ground!

Sincerely,
